From the Communications Director

As you can see from the list of publications and presentations, Cervantistas near and far have been quite productive. I hope that you find this feature of the newsletter useful, as sometimes the indices we consult are not always up-to-date. Feel free to send me items for the newsletter at any time during the year. For published pieces, please give full citation (preferably in MLA format) and for presentations, the title, the conference or congress name, and the date of the presentation. Only include items that are in print or papers that have already been delivered.

I have also suggested to the officers and executive council that a directory of members be published electronically. One option would be to make it available on the H-Cervantes homepage, but that would mean that anyone outside the Association would have access to the information as well. Another option would be to compile the directory and send it to members directly as a pdf. If you have any suggestions or strong feelings on this matter, please let me or any member of the executive council know.

Finally, please do not overlook the ballot for Vice President of the CSA on the last page of this newsletter. Votes must be postmarked or emailed no later than December 4, 2009.

Matt Wyszynski

The Japan Society of New York

The Japan Society of New York is currently presenting an exhibition on the renowned Japanese artist Serizawa Keisuke, who produced a gorgeous work entitled A Don Quixote Picture Book (1937), in which Don Quixote appears as a samurai in a traditional Japanese setting. The exhibition catalogue includes an essay on this work, Matthew Fraleigh's "Crafting a Japanese Don Quixote." The exhibition is called "Serizawa: Master of Japanese Textile Design" and continues through Jan. 17 at the Japan Society in Manhattan.

The New York Times has published a review of the exhibit:

For those interested in this topic, the "Don Quixote, East and West" issue of The Review of Japanese Culture and Society (Dec. 2006) includes two articles on Serizawa's A Don Quixote Picture Book, as well as many color images from the work. The journal's website is www.josairjcs.com.
