

Next Annual Meeting of the ASLH

NOVEMBER 12-15, 2009 | Dallas, Texas

Save the date!

In 1839, John Neely Bryan visited a site near the Trinity River in north Texas where he hoped to build a trading post. Instead, two years later, he started a permanent settlement that became the city of Dallas.

Today, the Dallas-Fort Worth region is a vibrant metropolis with a diverse and growing population, ranked as the ninth largest metropolitan area in the United States according to the 2000 census.

Dallas 2009
LIVE LARGE. THINK BIG.

The Fairmont Hotel, site for ASLH 2009 meeting.

The American Airlines Center (home of the Dallas Stars and Dallas Mavericks) is a quick walk or a short ride away on the DART light rail.

The DART Green Line, scheduled to open in September 2009, will provide service to several other museums at Fair Park and the nightlife of the Deep Ellum neighborhood.

THE 2009 ASLH MEETING WILL BE HELD AT THE FAIRMONT DALLAS, ONE OF THE FIRST LUXURY HOTELS IN THE STATE.

Built in 1969, the hotel is located at the heart of downtown Dallas's Arts District, within walking distance of the following attractions:

- The Dallas Museum of Art*
- The I.M. Pei-designed Meyerson Symphony Hall*
- The Dallas World Aquarium*
- The Nasher Sculpture Center*
- The flagship Neiman Marcus department store*
- The West End Historic District*

Dallas is home to Southern Methodist University, one of the leading private universities in the southern United States. SMU's Dedman School of Law is consistently ranked in the first tier of national law schools and has a longstanding commitment to legal history.

Please join us for the 2009 annual meeting of the ASLH in Dallas.

We'll show you a big Texas welcome!

GETTING TO DALLAS: Two major airports, Dallas-Fort Worth (DFW) and Love Field, make it easy to visit Dallas. DFW, a hub for American Airlines, offers direct flights to almost every major U.S. city and many non-U.S. destinations, including Frankfurt, London, Paris, Tokyo, and Toronto. Southwest Airlines and other carriers operate budget flights to many locations from Love Field.
